

Biology guidelines for working alone

In the Department of Biolog, the following rules apply when you are working alone and other people are not present:

- If you are using machines that involve hazardous substances or procedures, you must be at least 2 people.
- In less hazardous processes, you must have telephone contact with another person. This person may be a colleague, a family member or some other person within the building.
- When working in offices, no particular measures are necessary.
- It is not permitted to spend the night in the Department's buildings.

Please note that these rules apply to all persons in the building, this also means external service people and students.
